

About the Patientcare Charity Fund of the NUH

The NUH Patientcare Charity Fund (NUH PCF) was established in 1986 as a charity. It comprised a number of subsidiary funds, many of which were created to receive donations meant to help needy patients suffering from specific illnesses.

We take care to ensure that donor's wishes are respected and every cent that has been designated for the aid of needy patients is placed into the appropriate fund. Financially strapped patients who require help may apply to the Fund for assistance. Applications are assessed by medical social workers, whose recommendations for assistance to each subsidiary fund are reviewed by an appointed committee before funds are released. The NUH PCF is audited yearly.

The Fund also includes a small number of accounts that were designated by donors to receive monies for medical education and research in a hospital setting. One primary donor has been the NUH itself.

In February this year, the Fund was renamed as the NUHS Fund Limited to better reflect the funding support it provides to needy patients as well as for hospital-based research and education. The ultimate effort remains to continuously search for a better treatment or patient care process. The NUHS Fund Limited is audited yearly.

On-going training and development of our healthcare professionals are funded separately by the NUH and Ministry of Health.
