

The Gut Fund

The Division of Gastroenterology and Hepatology at National University Hospital is dedicated to advancing patient care and innovative research.

You can do your part to help us!
100% of your gift to The Gut Fund will facilitate:

High quality care for patients in need of financial assistance

Some medical treatments include:

- Inflammatory Bowel Disease (IBD)
- Chronic Hepatitis B and C treatment
- Intravenous feeding for patients with bowel surgery
- Liver Cancer treatment with radiotherapy beads

Support the work of our researchers to advance patient care

Your support will provide the essential funding for projects that potentially impact what we know of the disease and how we manage patients.

Enhance health education

As an academic centre, we are committed to education in the field of digestive and liver diseases. Your donation will support educational initiatives for the public as well as the next generation of gastroenterology care providers.

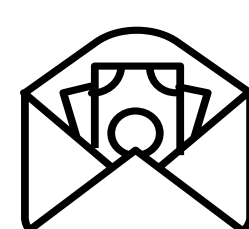

They need your help!

all names have been changed*

Mdm Lye* is a 72 year old retiree who contracted Hepatitis C during a blood transfusion while she was giving birth 30 years ago. She is dependent on her children for support but now needs $50,000 for direct acting antiviral therapy treatment with >90% efficacy and minimal side effects to prevent further complications to her liver.

Mr Lim* is a 50 year old bartender. He is married with a wife who is earning a low income in a stationery shop and has two schooling children. He needs assistance for about $330 a month to help control the hepatitis B virus that is damaging his liver.
